

RadioGraphics

MISSION

RadioGraphics' primary mission is to publish the best in peer-reviewed educational material presented at RSNA's annual meeting for radiologists, trainees, physicists and other radiologic professionals.

OBJECTIVES

To present a representative collection of RSNA education materials in print and electronic format.

To emphasize continuing medical education (CME) in the practitioner's course of self-assessment and life-long learning.

To offer readers a broad selection of image-based educational content in the radiologic subspecialties.

DESCRIPTION

The preeminent journal for diagnostic imaging education, RadioGraphics features practice-focused articles spanning the full spectrum of radiologic subspecialties and is a go-to source for continuing medical education credits.
