

Named Grant Funding Options for Individual Donors

Please find descriptions below for R&E Foundation grant awards and the donation commitment amounts needed for naming rights. Commitments can be spread over a negotiated number of years.

Research Scholar Grant

Our premier career development grant transitions junior faculty to independent investigators. Funding protects research time to conduct complex projects under the guidance of a mentor and scientific advisor in preparation for NIH funding. Allow flexibility in budget to include salary as well as personnel and other research related expenses. Travel funding to attend RSNA for Scholar Mentorship Program should be included in this funding not additional.

- Multi-Year Named Research Scholar Grants: $2,000,000
- Two Year Named Research Scholar Grant: $200,000 ($100,000 per year)

Research Fellow Grant

This grant provides investigators a chance to explore powerful ideas. Working alongside an experienced advisor, trainees gain insight into specific investigation and practice research methods and techniques; it is a catalyst to pursue research at a critical point in a radiologist's career.

- Multi-Year Named Research Fellow Grants: $1,500,000
- One Year Named Research Fellow Grant: $75,000

Research Seed Grant

Every great discovery starts with a spark. This grant provides seed money to test hypotheses and conduct pilot studies in preparation for major grant applications to corporations, foundations, and government agencies.

- Multi-Year Named Research Seed Grants: $1,200,000
- One Year Named Research Seed Grant: $60,000

Research Resident Grant

This grant provides investigators a chance to explore powerful ideas. Working alongside an experienced advisor, trainees gain insight into specific investigation and practice research methods and techniques; it is a catalyst to pursue research at a critical point in a radiologist's career.

- Multi-Year Named Research Resident Grants: $1,000,000
- One Year Named Research Resident Grant: $50,000
